

Teaching With Technology Lecture Series 2004
Bradley University
April 16, 2004

Reaching Students Through Web Resources

Presented by Shondra Johnson, CPA
Foster College of Business Administration
Department of Accounting

Seven Principles of Good Teaching

1. Encourage contact between students and faculty
2. Use active learning
3. Develop reciprocity and cooperation among students
4. Give prompt feedback
5. Spend time on task
6. Communicate high expectations
7. Respect diverse talents and ways of learning

Use of Technology – The following websites offer ideas about class activities, assignments, self-guided quizzes and homework.

- <http://www.merlot.org>
- <http://www.flaguide.org/>

Spring Training Workshops at Bradley University

- Free
- Often offered one-on-one by appointment
- <http://www.bradley.edu/irt/seminars.html>
- Include workshops regarding Blackboard course management, PowerPoint and creating PDFs

The Course at a Glance

Goals Explain the nature of accounting, financial statements, the accounting cycle, monetary assets, inventories, fixed assets, current and noncurrent liabilities, and owner's equity. Apply these concepts to hypothetical situations and demonstrate the accrual basis of accounting.

Website <http://hilltop.bradley.edu/~sljohnson/> (contact information, syllabus, assigned exercises, handouts, readings, tutoring schedule and much more)

A link to Blackboard is available from our course website. Blackboard will be used for on-line quizzing. In addition, all grades will be posted on Blackboard.

Please be aware that Bradley University has posted the following news regarding Blackboard. "You will need to log in twice due to a glitch in our last upgrade. There will be another small upgrade to fix the "double login" problem shortly."

Instructor Shondra Johnson, CPA (sljohnson@bradley.edu)

Office Hours By appointment

Materials Financial Accounting, 3rd Edition, Wiley Publishing, 2003. All other materials are available at the course website.

Grading Absolute scale (details on website).

20% = Good Faith Efforts (on-line quizzes)

80% = Tests